

Latins Back Off of Move to Exclude Cuba

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—The United States and its 13 Latin-American supporters backed away today from a demand for an immediate vote by the hemispheric foreign ministers conference to exclude Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime from the Organization of American States.

The majority group eased its stand in an effort to break a deadlock over how and when the suspension should take effect.

The conference, which was supposed to end Monday, continued to drag on after hours of fruitless bargaining. As hopes faded for an early adjournment, United States prestige appeared to suffer a blow.

The 14-nation group met for two hours and named a three-nation committee to draft a compromise amendment to be offered to the six nations holding out for a veto.

The United States and 13 Latin-American nations backing a tough line against Fidel Castro's government had just the necessary two-thirds majority to carry a formal resolution to oust the Havana government from the OAS councils.

They scheduled another bargaining session today in an effort to win over six of Latin America's biggest and most influential nations demanding a delay in the formal ouster of Cuba. The six were Brazil, Mexico, Argentina, Chile, Bolivia and Ecuador.

Both sides emerged from a closed-door, eight-hour bargaining session early today asserting some progress had been made on the issue threatening a deep split in inter-American relations.

The foreign ministers went without dinner Monday night in an effort to break the impasse. After the session there were hints of compromise in the works.

Asked if the meeting produced any progress, U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said, "I think so."

One conference informant said the United States appeared to be leaning toward what he called the Argentine view that it would be better to have all 20 nations censure Cuba than a majority out-law it.

An Argentine spokesman said Rusk "with infinite patience" seemed to have brought the opposing sides toward a solution whereby each OAS body would decide on excluding Cuba in line with the proposed conference declaration that the Castro regime is incompatible with the inter-American system.

The Brazilian-led bloc has agreed with the others on such censure of the Castro regime but contends the present OAS charter does not provide for Cuba's suspension. They want another foreign ministers' meeting convened on the issue after a proper legal foundation has been laid.

The United States and the Central American nations consider this legalistic approach unnecessary delay which possibly would run into years and which would endanger the Alliance for Progress program.

Foreign Minister Francisco Sane of the go-slow bloc, also declared Thiago Dantas of Brazil, leader "we are making progress" but indicated he felt it was toward the Brazilian view.

On the other end of the pole Guatemala and Colombia, exponents of the sternest measures against the Castro regime, were reported unyielding to arguments for compromise.

The impasse threatened to postpone once again a final declaration by the foreign ministers on Cuba's declaration incorporating the proposed resolutions originally was scheduled for Monday. It may not now come until late in the week.

Morale of Chinese Army Is Slipping

By RONNIE WEI

HONG KONG (AP)—The morale of Red China's powerful 2½-million-man army is slipping, a Chinese Communist bank official in Hong Kong reported today.

The official, who recently completed a four-month tour of Communist China said, "Food shortages and living conditions in China have disillusioned most of the Chinese soldiers."

He described the "people's liberation army" as "a group of frustrated men, constantly worrying about their families and their own future."

The official, who was sent to Hong Kong by the Chinese Communists in 1951, asked not to be identified. He made a similar tour of Red China four years ago.

Fugitives from Communist China agreed with his report and said many of the border guards could be bribed. "Otherwise we would still be in China," one fugitive said.

Official Chinese Communist reports also indicate dissatisfaction among Chinese soldiers. Morale-boosting measures, according to the reports, have been taken.

Western observers in Hong Kong said low morale in the Red army could trigger off a sweeping economic reform, but they ruled out the possibility of an open revolt.

Cold Damage to Highways $1 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The January cold wave cost Arkansas about $1 million in highway damage, state Maintenance Engineer R. B. Winfrey said.

The estimate was based on preliminary surveys conducted by engineers in charge of the 11,150-mile system in 10 highway districts.

More damage caused by the long freeze might show up this spring, Winfrey added.

Maintenance crews worked around the clock during the worst of the ice and snow to pour 628 tons of salt and 239 tons of calcium chloride on the highways.

That amount would fill 27 railroad cars, Winfrey said.

The cost of the material was estimated at $25,000, and the cost of labor and equipment is inestimable.

Nat'l Youth Week Being Observed

National Youth Week is being observed this week in Hope in co-operation with the National Council of churches. The theme for this year is "Called to Responsible Freedom: The meaning of sex in the Christian life."

Each day's young people from the churches taking part will present the morning devotionals over KXAR. At the close of the week a Youth Sunday service will be held at the First Presbyterian Church on Feb. 4. Earl Downs, local school guidance counselor, will be the speaker.

The five church youth groups taking part in the observance represent the Presbyterian, Methodist, First Christian, Baptist and Garrett Memorial churches.

The observance of youth week and Youth Sunday was an annual affair in Hope for several years, but four years ago interest died out. It is hoped that this year it may be revived and carried on once more, as it is a strong inter-denominational bond of Christian youth.

All interested teen agers are invited to attend the service Sunday. Vince Foster is chairman of this youth committee.

Ice Flow Moves in Mississippi

CAIRO, Ill. (AP)—The major part of a huge ice gorge blocking the Mississippi River at Cairo broke loose late Monday and began moving slowly downriver.

Coast Guard officials said all but a one-mile section of the gorge broke off and started drifting away about six to eight miles an hour. They said no vessels appeared to be endangered by the flowing mass of ice.

Power boats battered at the remnant of the gorge in an effort to open the river. The Mississippi has been blocked since Jan. 12 by the ice jam, described by rivermen as one of the worst in history.

More than 250 barges laden with industrial and consumer cargoes have been delayed by the ice.

Light Snow, Cold Hits 2 Sections

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Light snow and cold air covered northern areas from North Dakota into New England today but fairly mild midwinter weather prevailed in most other parts of the nation.

Temperatures dropped to 20 degrees below zero and lower in northern Minnesota and northern Maine as the frigid air clung to the border sections. Lowest readings included 23 below in International Falls, Minn. and -20 in Limestone, Maine.

Other below zero marks in Maine included -19 in Caribou, -10 in Houlton, -7 in Millinocket, -3 in Old Town and -2 in Augusta.

Southerly winds moderated temperatures up to the 20s in most of New York State but it was near zero in some sections in the northeast part of the state.

Readings were in the 30s and 40s in most other sections of the country except for the 50s and 60s in Southern California, Florida and the southern Plains.

Light snow or snow flurries fell in eastern parts of the Dakotas, the Great Lakes region and sections of the middle and north Atlantic Coast states. Freezing rain slicked highways and streets in southwestern lower Michigan.

Fresh snow at Sault Ste. Marie increased the amount on the ground to 27 inches.

Plan Would Break Berlin Wall Deadlock

By CARL HARTMAN

BERLIN (AP)—The British commandant in Berlin offered the Soviet command today a plan to break a deadlock between the Russians and the Americans on crossing the Communist wall through Berlin.

Maj. Gen. Sir Rohan Delacombe, British commandant in Berlin, told the Soviet commandant the Western Allies are ready to go back to previous procedures on the travel of the commandants and their staffs in the divided city.

This would mean that the ban would be lifted against the Soviet commandant, Col. Andrei I. Solov'yev, visiting the U.S. sector. Civilian officials riding with the U.S. commandant would be permitted to go to the Soviet sector without identifying themselves to the police of the East German Communist regime.

A U.S. spokesman has said that the ban on Solov'yev would be maintained until the civilians could go through unmolested. France and Britain never joined in the ban.

Whether Delacombe had any further proposal to make was not disclosed. Neither was the Soviet reaction.

Delacombe acted as spokesman for the U.S. and French commandants as well.

Before Dec. 23, East German police had not insisted on checking the identities of civilians riding with the U.S. commandant, Maj. Gen. Albert Watson II. On that day they did. An American spokesman at the time called it a "calculated affront on the part of the Soviets."

Watson retaliated by barring the Soviet commandant and his chief political adviser from the U.S. sector.

Sister Kenny Workers Are Indicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury charged two former employees of the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation today with taking nearly $360,000 in kickbacks from contributions to the foundation.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy announced the charges were made in an indictment returned in Minneapolis, Minn.

He said the 16-count indictment charging mail fraud also named as defendants four executives of Chicago direct mail firms and a former auditor of the foundation.

The mail firm executives were accused of diverting to the two foundation employees some of the money paid to the firms for soliciting contributions. The auditor was accused of falsifying audits of the foundation's books.

Kennedy said the defendants are:

Marvin L. Kline, 57, former executive director of the foundation, and Fred Fadell, 53, former publicity agent of the foundation, both of Minneapolis.

Weather May Again Delay Space Orbit

By JOHN BARBOUR

Associated Press Science Writer

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The specter of bad weather posed the possibility today that astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.'s date with the stars Thursday may run into a new delay.

But Project Mercury officials pushed ahead anyway on the basis that it is too early to tell for sure.

A weather advisory, released by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, said there were two areas of concern for Thursday's weather picture.

First there was the possibility of cloudiness over the Cape Canaveral launching site—depending on the movement offshore of a high-pressure system to the north.

Second is the possibility of rough seas Thursday in the Atlantic east of Bermuda. Seas are expected to subside by Thursday, but may not be quiet enough to insure safe recovery of Glenn's spacecraft if it is forced to land after only one orbit.

NASA spokesmen said it was still too early to pinpoint the course of the major weather systems influencing the areas in question.

In summary the weather picture was this: Mostly cloudy skies over the launch area, although this is uncertain, moderate winds and seas. An attempt to launch Glenn last Saturday was delayed until Thursday at the earliest because of clouds above the Cape.

From Bermuda to the mid-Atlantic—the area where the space capsule would land after a single orbit—was expected to have mostly cloudy skies, fresh winds and moderately rough seas.

Elsewhere, normal showers over equatorial Africa; stormy weather over Australia, south and east of Hawaii and in a few areas of the eastern Pacific.

With the countdown for a Thursday date passing the T-minus-48 hours mark, officials could only keep an eye on the weather systems and keep working on the basis of a Thursday shot.

Pilot Glenn, spacecraft and rocket are all reported checking out in good order for the flight three times around the world.

7 p. m. Wednesday Auto Tag Deadline

Wednesday is the final day for buying tags without paying a penalty. Starting Thursday a penalty of $1 for each 19 days delay will be charged.

Arkansas Helps Feed Egyptians

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas farmers are helping feed the troubled nation of Egypt in an attempt to keep it out of the hands of the communists.

Herbert K. Ferguson, a United States foreign agricultural specialist, said in an interview Monday that oil from soybeans and cotton grown in Arkansas is an important part of the surplus commodities going to Egypt.

Ferguson is visiting in Little Rock while on leave from the Department of Agriculture assignment in Egypt. That nation, he said, is the victim of overpopulation and a shortage of food.

About half the food Egyptians consume comes from the U.S. Ferguson said, American surplus commodities are being sold and given away to feed the politically-pivotal country.

About 3 million Egyptian children participate in a free school lunch program, provided by the U.S.

Without the food, Ferguson said, "I think hunger would force the Egyptians against their will to sell out to the Russians. Egypt has remained a neutral nation."

Post Will Have First Negro Cabinet Officer

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy sent to Congress today a reorganization plan to create a new Cabinet-rank department of urban affairs and housing.

The fate of the plan is uncertain. It becomes law in 60 days unless either House of Congress vetoes it, but the measure has become embroiled in racial and partisan controversy.

Senate rejection of the plan is considered unlikely but the prospects in the House are uncertain.

In a special message to Congress accompanying the plan, Kennedy said: "The times we live in urgently call for this action. We will neglect our cities at our peril, for in neglecting them we neglect the nation."

The 11th Cabinet department would contain the several agencies now embraced in the Housing and Home Finance Agency; and Kennedy has announced that HHPA's administrator, Robert C. Weaver, would become secretary of the new department—the first Negro Cabinet officer in history.

Kennedy announced the plan to name Weaver for the new job at a news conference last week and a few hours after the House Rules Committee had rejected by a 9-6 vote a bill to create the department by regular legislative means.

Kennedy, scolded Republicans for their solid committee opposition to the bill. The five GOP members were joined by four Southern Democrats.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People promptly notified the Republican National Committee that the opposition to the plan "will be interpreted as racially motivated."

The chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, Rep. John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, later accused Kennedy of a "crude attempt to interfere in the race issue" into the controversy.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Senate Republican leader, brought up the states' rights issue by charging that the plan would encourage the cities to take their problems to Washington instead of to their own state governments.

A possibility a showdown might be delayed came with Dirksen's announcement Monday that he has drafted a counterresolution setting up a bipartisan commission to study the functions of the proposed department and the programs which would be shifted to it.

Dirksen said the Kennedy plan would open the door to demands from other groups, such as the veterans, for representation at the Cabinet level.

Assessment Data Is Microfilmed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The heavy load of government has been substantially reduced in the Pulaski County clerk's office, which has just completed microfilming its real estate assessment records.

The project reduced bulk of the records from 4½ tons to 66½ pounds. They required 230 cubic feet of storage space and this has been reduced to 2½ cubic feet.

Deputy Clerk David W. Bizzell handled the microfilming, which took six months. He covered the years 1928-1958 and processed 261 books.

Bizzell said the first book—for 1929—had only 34 pages. It took eight books with 5,300 pages for the 1958 record.

Ruling Favors
Poultry Group

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court ruled Monday that poultry producers are engaged in agriculture and thus do not have to carry workmen's compensation insurance on their employees.

The ruling settled the question of whether poultry production was a legitimate agricultural operation under the workmen's compensation law which excludes farm labor.

It came in a suit filed by Mrs.
Louise Franklin of Kingsland who was hurt in a fall while working for Mitchell McCoy of Kingsland
July 22, 1959.

The Supreme Court opinion upheld Cleveland Circuit Judge G. B.
Colvin.

There are what he termed "family quarrels" in the Communist world. That's the way he described the increasingly acrimonious disputes between the Soviet Union and Red China over policy and ideology.

New Look in Baptist Evangelism

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The
"new look" in Baptist evangelism makes use of mass communications, psychology and public relations, two speakers at the Arkansas State Baptist Conference on Evangelism said Monday.

"We much merchandise the gospel in a supermarket world," said Dr. Kenneth Chafin, professor of evangelism at Southwest Baptist Theological Seminary,
Fort Worth, Tex.

The modern evangelist, he said, must make his appeal to the modern man in terms he can relate to his day-to-day life.

Another defender of the "new look" was Dr. Vernon Yearby of Dallas, director of the Division of Evangelism of the Southern Baptist Home Mission. He and Chafin made their remarks in an interview.

To the three classic types of evangelism, public, personal and visitation, Yearby said modern Baptists have added a few new types. They are, he said, tract evangelism through pamphlets, publication evangelism (newspaper columns written by evangelists and "televangelism" by way of television.

The two-day conference here is being attended by dozens of ministers, evangelists and laymen. It ends today. The theme is "New Testament Evangelism," and the conference is part of preparations for the Baptist Jubilee year of 1964.

Other evangelism conferences are being held in other states.
They are supposed to inspire the ministers for the jubilee year when the Southern Baptist hope to have revival meetings round the world.

Last year, Yearby said, the Southern Baptists baptized 401,000 persons, and that figure is 15,000 more than the year before. He said 1,100 were baptized in Arkansas.

Asked about faith healing, Year-by said, "We believe in faith and we believe in healing. We believe in praying for the sick." Of the shouting, head-slapping public faith healing, he said, "God heals but not like that."

The Baptist Jubilee will mark
150 years of Baptist Church Organization.

To Pick Successor to Mr. Rayburn

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP)—Voters decide today which of two Democrats, both pledged to back the Kennedy administration, will succeed the late Sam Rayburn as congressman from Texas' 4th District.

The contestants are attorney R. C. (Bob) Slagle Jr., whose platform is liberal, and state Sen.
Ray Roberts, whose viewpoint is a shade more conservative.

They entered today's special election runoff by leading a Dec.
23 preliminary election. Roberts had 8,154 votes to Slagle's 5,945.
Four other candidates, including a Republican, received 8,023 votes.

Both candidates stressed their close ties to Democrat Rayburn, a member of the House 48 years and its speaker for 19 years.

With the candidates' viewpoints so close, few national issues have arisen.

The winner must run again in this year's primaries and general election to hold his seat.

Private Funeral for Composer

NEW YORK (AP)—A private funeral service for Fritz Kreisler will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. at the Roman Catholic church of St. John the Evangelist.

The world-famous violinist and composer died in a hospital Monday of heart trouble and old age.
He would have been 87 on Friday.

His widow, Harriet, has been seriously ill at home for some time.

Education Bill Up in the House

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to provide $300 million a year in federal funds to help the nation's colleges build classrooms, libraries and laboratories comes up in the House today.

Missing from the measure is a section that would provide for 40,000 federal scholarships. Democratic sponsors of the measure abandoned the provision in order to smooth passage for the construction program.

The White House reportedly has gone along with the strategy although President Kennedy made both scholarships and construction key parts of his higher education program.

Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., is the author of the House bill, which would offer $100 million a year in grants and $120 million yearly in loans for five years—a total outlay of $1.5 billion.

The grant program would be administered by a state agency representing all higher educational institutions, both public and private. In some states such an agency would have to be created.
Each state would get an allotment and the state agency would determine the specific grants.

Under the loan program colleges would apply directly to the U.S. Office of Education for 50-year loans at low interest rates.
The Senate is also scheduled to begin consideration of a college aid bill this week, but with a scholarship program included.

Byblos was the last castle town in Lebanon to be abandoned by the Crusaders.

JFK Host to Daughter of Khrushchev

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev's daughter and son-in-law are having lunch today with President and Mrs.
Kennedy at the White House.

The son-in-law is Alexei I. Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia, official Soviet government newspaper. He interviewed Kennedy last fall at the President's Cape Cod home.

Adzhubei told newsmen at an embassy reception Monday night the case of former Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov "has no significance in our country."

In answer to newsmen's questions, he said the mystery surrounding Molotov's fate does not mean any resurgence of the so-called "anti-party group" in the Soviet Union, a group which has opposed Khrushchev policies.

He said Molotov is an old man and perhaps has been sick. "The Molotov case made headlines in the West when it was announced he was returning to a diplomatic post in Vienna. Later it was announced he was not returning."

"The White House luncheon was announced last Wednesday, two days after the president's brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy declined an informal invitation to stop off in the Soviet Union on his world trip.

The White House, however, ascribed no particular political significance to the invitation.
Press secretary Pierre Salinger said Adzhubei had asked to meet with Kennedy again and the President had volunteered to be host at a luncheon.

In another move apparently aimed at improving East-West communications, Salinger met in Paris Monday with his Soviet counterpart, press chief Mikhail Kharlamov.

There was speculation that the purpose of Salinger's trip was to arrange a possible exchange of television interviews by Kennedy and Khrushchev. Salinger declined to comment on this.

"We had an informative discussion of a number of mutual topics in the field of communications and we came to no decisions," he said upon landing in New York Monday night.

Adzhubei, who interrupted a Latin American tour with his wife to keep the luncheon date at the White House, said he was pleased to talk with Kennedy because it is important to have "all possible contacts between our two countries."

He added, however, that this is not the time for "big steps" in the improvement of relations — such as a U.S.-Soviet peace treaty
—but that it is a time for work on many "small steps."

Adzhubei, talking to newsmen through an interpreter at the Soviet Embassy reception conceded

Against U. S. Regulation of Networks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert W. Sarnoff, board chairman of the National Broadcasting Co., said today government regulation of networks would be unnecessary, unwise and unworkable.

"We cannot accept the premise that the public interest demands the regulation of networks, and that all that remains is to decide just how they should be regulated," said Sarnoff in testimony for the opening of the second week of hearings by the Federal Communications Commission.

The hearings are designed to measure the extent networks control U.S. television fare and to determine what type of regulation may be necessary.

Columbia Broadcasting System officials testified last week. American Broadcasting Co. executives will appear next week after NBC completes its testimony.

Sarnoff said network television has been shaped largely by its three principal characteristics: "as an advertiser-supported service, an intensely competitive enterprise, and the most broadly based mass medium in history."

It was no accident that created the broadcasting system on its present economic basis, he said. "For by its very structure, a commercially based system, dependent for success on public favor and spurred by economic competition, would have to be continuously responsive to the tastes and desires of our national public," Sarnoff said.

"This was to be its primary regulating force, rather than the personal tastes and desires of private managements, subsidizers or government officials."

"The television dial, he said, in America's most frequently used voting machine.

"Every day, millions of viewers are making scores of millions of choice among the programs offered to them, accepting some and rejecting others. Broadcast schedules are continuously changed in accordance with the tally of votes the viewers have cast."

Found Dead But He Really Wasn't

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Jerome A. Stream, 37, was found apparently dead in his home in suburban Cleveland Heights.

A relative said a doctor pronounced the dentist dead at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Two men came from a funeral home to take the body. As they wheeled Stream into the preparation room at the funeral home, Larry Miller shouted: "My God, he's breathing!" That was at 12:15 p.m.

Miller dashed back to the ambulance for the oxygen tank while his brother, Leon, gave heart massage.

Stream was reported in fair condition today at Mount Sinai Hospital.

Contention of Convicted Man Dropped

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The appeal of a West Memphis man who contended he was convicted of a crime after the statute of limitations had expired was dismissed today by the Arkansas Supreme Court.

The appellant, John Ed Gray, is serving a 20-year prison term.

He filed a handwritten petition for a writ of habeas corpus, but the Supreme Court treated it as a regular appeal.

Gray contended he was sentenced in 1958 for a crime that occurred in 1952. He first was arrested in 1952, he said, but no charges were filed against him. Instead, he was turned over to authorities in Tennessee where he was sentenced to 4½ years in prison for another crime.

After his release in Tennessee, Gray said, he visited West Memphis in 1957 and was arrested for drunken driving. The old charges—burglary and grand larceny since the legislature eliminated the regular $8.5 million reserve fund to provide college construction money as a part of a $23 million state construction program set up at two special sessions.

The Supreme Court, in another ruling, affirmed the second degree murder conviction of William Eugene Becker. Becker was sentenced in White Circuit Court to a 10-year term for the fatal shooting of his wife, Nettie Jean Becker, on Sept. 7, 1960.

The Road to the Snail

CHAPTER XXII

With the number of witnesses involved, plus the senator's aides and assistants, space had been a problem; except for the church, there was no building large enough for the crowd, so the Committee finally decided to hold the hearings in the rambling gardens behind the Bar Central.

But the senator's people had done their best to turn this pleasantly raffish place into something more suitable to the heavy mood of the occasion. Straight-backed chairs were lined up in stately neat rows on the overgrown lawn. Facing the witness stand, the senator and his aides sat behind a long table at the foot of the garden. They stared out over bound stacks of testimony or looked at us around their typewriters and tape-recorders and microphones. Tripods at each end of the table supported scale maps and drawings of the road to the Snail.

The last time I'd been in these gardens was at a party given by Paco Manojia, who owned the Bar Central. That had been quite a night. Lanterns were gleaming in the lemon trees then, and bowls of fish-hunch punch, shining like tiny ponds in the moonlight sent up languorous fumes of rum and brandy to mingle with the scent of jasmine and geranium. Everyone had had a fine time. Millie Gunn told fortunes. A bullfighter had been sick in the trees. Sig Friedman, an All-American from Loyola Pacific, had faded back and tossed a suckling pig 30 yards into a punch bowl.

I was sitting with Terry, beside Dennis and Francesca. Dennis wore his blue blazer and a subdued tie. He looked very proper and very miserable.

Everyone connected with this strange business was on hand; Polly Soames and Millie Gunn, Zoggy O'Neill and his friends, Commodore Shapely and Karl Hauffman, and the dozen American construction workers, who filled a solid row with their bulk.

Pye Littlejohn was sitting up front directly under the senator's eye; he was scrunched down in his chair, obviously trying to make himself as inconspicuous as possible. In addition there were a dozen odd Spaniards who had testified on one point or another in regard to the Snail. They sat with Dennis' ex-maids and their novios.

Senator Axelsson rapped for attention, and got to his feet. He was a tall spare man with thick gray hair, and the hard, weathered face of a farmer or cattleman. He wore a gray suit with a vest, and a carelessly knotted tie. I didn't like his looks. "This was ashrewd, canny veteran, I felt larceny—were revived and he was tried on them.

The question was whether Gray-er was legally an Arkansas resident during the time he was in the Tennessee prison.

He contended he was because he did not leave the state voluntarily, and thus the three-year statute of limitations would hold in his case.

The Supreme Court held that he was not a legal resident and thus the 1952 charges could legally be revived when he returned to the state in 1957.

I told her, and she rubbed her head of a nose thoughtfully. "Looks like a boy I knew years ago," she whispered. "Acorns Axelson."

Senator Axelsson, sounded his gavel lightly but emphatically. "We'll get this job done fast if you give me your attention," he said. The senator spoke in a very soft voice—so soft that you knew he was accustomed to an immediate respectful silence whenever he cleared his throat. "First, my thanks to those here not citizens of the United States. You've come of your own volition. A committee is pleased that a historical village. This committee congratulates Spain on that score. It's a good thing for the world of re-

Dams Proposed on Buffalo River

MARSHALL, Ark. (AP) — Two proposed Buffalo River dams which have drawn praise and opposition will be discussed at a public meeting here on Tuesday, sponsored by Army Engineers.

The dams, which would be located at Gilbert and Lone Rock for flood protection, power and recreation, have met opposition from groups wanting land in the Buffalo basin kept in its natural state.

The Buffalo Dams Association, embracing Newton, Searcy, Marion, Baxter and Boone counties, favors construction of the dam as an economic measure.

Other support comes from chambers of commerce at Mountain Home, Harrison and Yellville, as well as the Buffalo River Improvement Association, a Searcy County group.

Urging that the Buffalo remain in a "free flowing state" are such groups as the Arkansas Wildlife Federation, the Arkansas Audubon Society and the White River Trout Association.

search and scholarship.

"But our job is to look into the circumstances of how it was found. I'm a servant of the taxpayers of the United States. Their money was spent on this project. They deserve to know why it was spent. It seems clear that the people who participated in this project, who authorized it—" The senator dropped his gaze to Littlejohn; it seemed to land with the effect of a sandbag.

Littlejohn sank 6 inches deeper into his chair. "—those people have taken a very light view of our taxpayers' money. But that's not the important thing. They've also broken the letter and spirit of vital contractual arrangements between Spain and the United States."

Construction Fund Okayed by High Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court affirmed today a 1961 act designed to free $8.5 million in state reserve funds for college construction.

The Supreme Court decision affirmed a Pulaski Chancery Court ruling in a friendly suit brought by Maxine Miles of West Memphis against the state Reserve Fund Commission.

The law, Act 65 of 1961, provides for issuance of certificates of indebtedness against the state's daily balance to insure a steady flow of money to run the government.

Some method of insuring a constant supply of money was necessary since the legislature eliminated the regular $8.5 million reserve fund to provide college construction money as a part of a $23 million state construction program set up at two special sessions.

The Supreme Court, in another ruling, affirmed the second degree murder conviction of William Eugene Becker. Becker was sentenced in White Circuit Court to a 10-year term for the fatal shooting of his wife, Nettie Jean Becker, on Sept. 7, 1960.

Dear Helen: We are two middle-aged sisters and a brother whose lives are made miserable by the incessant quarreling of our oldest and youngest sisters over something which happened long ago.

Have you ever noticed how, in large families, one gets all the breaks, and another, given the same advantages, is trouble's child? So it has always been with these two. The youngest has personality plus. Opportunity knocks on her door every day. The eldest, though better looking, seemed ill-fated from birth.

Father and mother left us the big house which has been in our family for generations. Here we live, surrounded by wonderful heirlooms and every physical comfort. From the outside looking in, you'd think we had everything, yet, lacking peace of mind, we have nothing. We get up in the morning, tight-lipped and silent, fearful of precipitating a quarrel. And so our days go; rarely speaking, unless spoken to, secretly, blaming our eldest sister.

For 39 years she has cherished a grudge against the youngest and all because the poor girl insisted she divorce an utterly worthless husband.

The eldest married a no-good who drank, chased women, reeled home at all hours and beat her. A baby boy came the first year of the marriage, so she held her head high and said nothing. But the youngest, having family pride, talked her into divorcing—which, of course, she should not have done. After the divorce the eldest returned to our home and we've had nothing but dissension ever since. She hates our youngest sister because the poor lamb is happily married—claiming she would be too, if the other had not interfered. Being spunky, the youngest lashes back. Both now say that we make a bad situation worse by keeping up the farce of a home. We three quiet ones love the place. It is part of us and ours as well as theirs. How can we restore the peaceful past? —Baffled Sister.

Dear Baffled: Your question raises several since more than one problem is involved. The wisdom of families continuing as a unit after children are grown is debatable. If you live disagree it would certainly be wiser to live apart. There is no feud so devastating as a family feud. Close relationships are too intimate to be peaceful. By clinging to the old home you only intensify the falling between your two sisters.

You are a house divided against itself: three united on one side; two at odds on the opposite. Sell the home, if you have to go to court to do it, divide the proceeds and live separately in peace. We make our own opportunities in life so I doubt if either warring sister is lucky, or unlucky. Like attracts like. If your eldest sister sincerely seeks happiness, she must first reverse her thinking.

Dear Helen: Did you ever feel lost? I don't know what to do with myself, or my life. I can't sing, dance, I'm not a very good typist or stenographer and to top it all off, haven't the money to complete my business training. The government just turned me down on an educational loan. I couldn't make enough in a year to pay the business college, if I take the kind of job I rate. My parents can't help, since they are raising five other children. Please advise me. —In The Woods.

Dear In The Woods: Yes, I've felt lost but only when the life I had known was swept away by death of those near and dear. The cure is work. First decide what you want to do most in this world then set about finding ways and means to achieve your goal. Your letter doesn't indicate any real enthusiasm for stenography or typing, which is probably why the government agency turned you down. Every single human being is born with a talent for doing some one thing well. List the things you enjoy doing. Check the one likely to bring returns. It will, provided you don't give up.

Firing of Ted Woods Confirmed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus confirmed today that Ted Woods, director of the state Publicity and Parks Commission, has been fired effective Feb. 15.

Woods announced Saturday the commission had discharged him but Commission Chairman L. C. Dial of Brinkley would not confirm the action and Faubus could not be reached.

"I'm sure the Commission had sufficient cause," Faubus told a news conference today. He added, he did not want to discuss the matter further.

For several minutes he turned aside questions, then he said he had discussed the action with the commission in advance, indicating he had approved the discharge.

"I still consider Ted Woods my personal friend," Faubus said. "He (Woods) was right when he said no one has been more loyal to my administration."

The governor said he has not talked with Woods since Saturday. He said he had doctor's orders not to answer the telephone over the weekend and that was why Woods was unable to reach him.

"I did not ignore his calls," Faubus said, "my secretary has been instructed to put him through if he calls again."

Faubus said he did not have anyone to replace Woods in mind at this time.

The governor spent most of last week at the mansion, recuperating from a respiratory infection.

He said they gave him no other reason for the dismissal. Dial said he had no comment immediately but that a statement would be issued in a few days.

Woods has headed the commission since 1953. He was appointed to it in 1955. He is a former newspaperman and radio station executive.

Woods was an early supporter of Gov. Orval E. Faubus whom he met while both were serving in the 35th Division in World War II.

Terms County Judges as Untouchables

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Legislative Council report shows that Arkansas county judges hold "untouchable" legislative, judicial and executive power.

Rep. David H. Pryor of Ouachita County, who requested the council study on the matter, said the report "points up the weaknesses of the county system."

Pryor has been campaigning for a constitutional convention. He advocates tighter control on county government and officials.

The report noted that county judges are the only county officials who handle public funds without being bonded. But, the report said, it would be impossible to require bonding because the judges also act as heads of county courts in approving the actions they take as administrators.

The judges are road commissioners, custodians of county property and purchasing agent for the county. And, with the judicial authority, they approve the purchases.

There are a few state laws which govern their actions, the report said. One of these says judges may not have an interest in contracts or accept bribes. Another, Amendment 10, prohibits deficit spending by counties and limits contractual obligation in which a county can engage.

The state Comptroller's office audits county books once a year, the report pointed out, and this is somewhat of a check on the judges.

Delay Auto Sale

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has postponed the sale of two antique automobiles owned by the late opera singer, James Melton, from Feb. 5 to Feb. 14. The cars will be sold at the Terminal Warehouse Co. in Little Rock. One is a 1907 Stanley Steamer and the other is a 1933 Chrysler Imperial. The sale is to help pay taxes owed by Melton and his wife.

Convicted Rapist Has 2nd Trial

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The second trial of convicted Negro rapist Luther Bailey opens here today in Pulaski Circuit Court.

Defense attorneys, appointed by Circuit Judge William J. Kirby, are seeking a change of venue, contending Bailey cannot receive a fair and impartial trial in the county.

Bailey, a 50-year-old Woodson Negro, was convicted in September 1956, of criminally assaulting a Little Rock woman in her home the previous June 14.

Last March, the 8th U.S. Court of Appeals in St. Louis reversed the conviction and ordered a new trial because racial discrimination existed in the selection of Pulaski jury panels.

The appellate court appeared to be more disturbed because Negroes were not seated on civil juries in the circuit court than it was about the presence of Negroes on criminal panels.

The 1961 Arkansas Legislature corrected the situation by separating the Pulaski Circuit Court into two bodies—one handling criminal cases and the other civil.

Since his conviction, Bailey has been in death row at Tucker Prison Farm. Chris C. Mercer and E. V. Trimble were asked Friday to defend Bailey. They replace

NAACP Dismisses Faubus Suit

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The National Association, for the Advancement of Colored People filed a motion in U.S. District Court here today to dismiss an NAACP suit brought against Gov. Orval E. Faubus in 1958.

The suit, so-called 571aration that Act 85 of 1956 is unconstitutional.

The suit sought a declaration once by the federal court on order of a three judge court pending interpretation of the law by the state judiciary.

George Howard, a Pine Bluff Negro attorney representing the NAACP, signed today's motion saying it should be dismissed because federal jurists had stayed its proceedings pending state rulings and the act had been declared void by the Arkansas Supreme Court in 1959.

Act 85 was among several laws passed during the initial integration of Little Rock schools and required registration and accounting by those who solicit funds for lobbying purposes.

Thad Williams, Bailey's first attorney, who has moved to California.

Porkers, Rice Meet Tonight at Fayetteville

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas tries to knock Rice out of a three-way tie for the South-west Conference lead tonight in an important basketball game in Barnhill Field House.

Rice, SMU and Texas Tech are tied for the lead with 3-1 records. SMU and Tech meet tonight in Dallas.

Arkansas could get back into the thick of the fight by improving its 2-2 record with a victory over Rice. In that event, the winner of the Tech-SMU game would be on top and the loser would share second place with Arkansas and Rice.

Last week's performance will make Arkansas the favorite to tonight. Rice beat Trinity College at San Antonio by only 79-70, while the Hogs were walloping Tulsa 99-77.

But Rice has a good combination of fast youngsters and experienced front men. The leaders are senior forward Ollie Shipley and 6-10 sophomore post man Kendall Rhine. With them on the starting lineup will be forward Larry Phillips and guards Jim Fox and Herb Steinkamp.

Arkansas Coach Glen Rose will start Tommy Boyer and Larry Wolford at forwards, Jim Wilson at center and Jerry Carlton and Jerry Rogers at guards. That's been the standard Arkansas lineup, developed in a nine-game winning streak earlier in the season.

This is the first game for both teams after the mid-semester exams. It could be the turning point for the Razorbacks.

The Arkansas freshman shoots meet Fort Smith Junior College in a preliminary game.

Thinks TV Can Be Proud of Hearings

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—A Network television, currently the subject of Federal Communications Commission hearings, can point with pride to its performance this past weekend.

Astronaut John Glenn's rocket flight was postponed because of weather, but during the long hours of the countdown on Saturday, all three networks carried on in smooth, well-planned fashion. During the seemingly endless wait with Glenn in the space ship and not much visible activity, all three teams kept viewers informed, and briefed us thoroughly with their own knowledge and pre-taped interviews. Everyone seemed to know his job and was ready for any situation.

It was a good job—but it won't be as interesting next time they go through the countdown.

NBC's "White Paper" Sunday night put a blazing light on the Hudson River community of Newburgh, N.Y., in the headlines recently because of the determination primarily of its city manager, Joseph Mitchell, to rid its public welfare roles of "chiselers and loafers," freeloaders and the able-bodied—his description.

The cameras inspected Newburgh's slums. Reporters interviewed proponents and opponents of the plan as well as some of those affected—old, sick, blind and despairing. It wound up with an interview with an agonized young father, sobbing because he could find no work, welfare doors were closed to him and his children were hungry.

All through the program, like a pointing finger, ran the brisk voice of Chet Huntley, stating that after the furor, only one able-bodied worker was found among 800 receiving benefits last summer; that aid to fatherless families amounted to about six per cent of the city welfare costs, that the widely publicized reform projects had led only to "a small tax saving."

It was a shocking, frightening program and there was no doubt about the way the producers of the program felt about the banding of the problem. The Newburgh welfare reformers won't like it at all.

Two other members of the top 10 also saw action as the schedule picked up after a two-week lull caused by midterm examinations. Ninth-ranked Bradley polished off Tulsa 62-50 in a Missouri Valley game and Mississippi State, No. 10 nationally, disposed of Delta State 106-76.

A team in the process of rebuilding, sophomore-studded Kentucky has projected itself into the thick of national contention. The Wildcats' only loss was to Southern California, 79-77, in their second game.

Sophomore sensation Cotton Nash powered the Wildcats to their fifth successive Southeastern Conference win at the expense of Georgia Tech. The 6-foot-5 blond stalwart contributed 18 points in the second half after being held to three before intermission.

The return meeting between All-Americans Jerry Lucas of Ohio State and Terry Dischinger of Purdue proved something of a dud. Boilermaker sophomore Mel Garland and the Buckeyes' Mel Nowell stole the spotlight.

Dischinger outscored Lucas to 13, the third time he has finished ahead of the Ohio State star. Garland wound up with 30 points for Purdue. Nowell's long-range shooting accounted for 29 for the Buckeyes.

Mississippi State coasted to its 15th triumph in 16 outings at the expense of outclassed Delta State. Delta's Grandle Barron topped the scorers with 25 points.

LeRoy Ellis' 31 points triggered touring St. John's (NY) to a 78-72 double overtime win over Notre Dame. Jimmy Rayl scored 17 of his 24 points in the second half as Indiana rallied to nip Northwestern 72-71 and Wisconsin posted its fourth straight Big Ten victory in turning back Illinois 85-81.

Virginia Tech handed West Virginia its first Southern Conference setback in 11 games 85-82 behind a 28-point barrage by Bucky Kellner. Vinnie Ernst tallied 31 points and Jim Hadnot chipped in with 28 as Providence whipped Niagara 77-67. Clemson trimmed Furman 97-88 despite a 28-point harvest by the losers' Jerry Smith.

Xavier of Ohio downed Detroit 89-82 with Joe Geiger lopping the winners with 26 points.

Alabama defeated Chattanooga 73-56. Mississippi thumped Florida 73-56. Mississippi thumped Florida 73-56.

If you're one of the millions of car owners who should get their cars serviced this week, here's good news:

Galaxie... styling and performance leader of the full-size cars.

Ford eliminates 10 out of 12 service stops required by most cars!

FAIRLANE... in a class by itself, right between compacts and big cars.

In a 1962 Ford Galaxie or Fairlane you can go all year—or 12,000 miles—with only two stops for service. This revolutionary new twice-a-year maintenance program—available only in the cars from Ford—freezes you forever from the nag-nag-nag of month-after-month servicing. (See chart.) It's the biggest thing that's happened to cars since Ford introduced the 12-month or 12,000-mile warranty.* See your Ford Dealer soon—and start saving time and money with the convenience of twice-a-year maintenance. It's another Ford first!

*Ford Motor Company warrants to its dealers, and its dealers in turn, warrant to their customers as follows: that for 12 months or for 12,000 miles, whichever comes first, free replacement, including related labor, will be made by dealers of any part with a defect in workmanship or materials. Tires are not covered by the warranty. Appropriate adjustments will continue to be made by the fire companies. Owners will remain responsible for normal maintenance service and routine replacement of maintenance items such as filters, spark plugs, and ignition points.

These service intervals are based on the requirements for all climates, chassis lubrication, minor lubrications, etc., as specified by the manufacturer in the owner's manual for each car.

Ferris Best U. S. Skiing Prospect

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy. (AP)—Chuck Ferris, who has won two top time events in a row, ranks as America's best prospect for the World Alpine Skiing Championships.

The 23-year-old U.S. champion from Dearborn, Mich. won the Duca D'Aosta special slalom Sunday in his last important test before the world title events open Feb. 10.

"He is racing as if he went to a skiing school in Austria," experts said of Ferris after his victory in 138 seconds for two runs.

Ferris, who won the Kitzbuehel event a week earlier, darted through the 70 gates in 69.7 seconds on his first run and 68.3 on his second. It gave him an aggregate four-tenths of a second better than French ace Charles Bozon, who was second.

Other teams receiving votes, not necessarily in order of points: Utah, Arizona State, Villanova, Wisconsin, West Virginia, Oregon State, Loyola Chicago, St. John's (NY), Illinois, UCLA, Arkansas, Centenary, Louisville.
